Keep in mind that your template will not process your entire image at the same time, but only selected frames—or only portions of an image as you make adjustments to your presets. Cineon Converter 10 2.0 download for mac os x Once you have adjusted your presets, render your image into an After Effects file (.AE). The template will process only the image or area of the image that is affected by a particular preset. But you can adjust the template so that it selects only the portions of your image that are affected by a particular preset. Use the masking feature in After Effects to create masks to denote sections of the image affected by a preset. Use a mask to color the different sections of your image with a different background color. Begin the process of converting the image by clicking on the Apply Effects button. Now that all the presets have been applied to the image, select Cineon2Video and click the Convert button. This button converts your image from Cineon to Video for further processing in After Effects. If you are using only a single frame or image for your AE project, then you can now easily perform any adjustments you want to your image. The Cineon 2.0 plugin comes with three presets: Cineon Default, Natural, and Film. Cineon Converter 3.0.0 allows you to easily select one of three default presets. It can help you provide important settings such as brightness, contrast, and color balance. You can also change the compression settings, as well as the color space used. The additional presets include No Filter, Film, Skin, Vignette, Black & White, and Aurora. In addition, Cineon Converter 3.0.0 has many new features such as enabling you to save, export and re-import presets. Cineon Converter 3.0.0 also has a new timeline that allows you to modify the presets more easily. Do you have an old version of After Effects or Cineon 2? Cineon Converter can help you convert Cineon files to normal video. It is a very easy-to-use plug-in with a Windows and Mac version available.

Cineon Converter also allows you to export video into various popular video formats such as .MP4, .AVI, .MPEG, .QuickTime .AVCHD, .
